Cubberley artists exhibit new diverse works during 16th annual winter event

PALO ALTO, CA – The Cubberley Artist Studio Program (CASP), a thriving community of artists based at Palo Alto’s Cubberley Community Center, is hosting its 16th annual Winter 2016 Cubberley Artists Open Studios on December 3rd from 11-5 p.m.

All events are free to the public and will take place at Cubberley Community Center, 4000 Middlefield Road, Palo Alto. The artist studios are located in the E, F, and U wings at the north end of the Center.

Twenty-two Cubberley artists will open their studio doors to art lovers of all ages. Visitors are invited to tour the studios to see new works and to get a glimpse into an artist’s active work space. Visitors will have the chance to engage with artists to learn about their materials and creative processes, as well as view art from a variety of media, ranging from traditional fine arts to innovative new media works and installation art.

Artists Charles Woodruff Coates and Christine Gray will offer interactive demonstrations. Mixed media artist Marianne Lettieri will invite studio visitors to participate in an artwork by encouraging them to take home small altered art objects for free. The event is designed to highlight each artist and his/her unique work.

Artwork will be on sale directly through individual artists and light refreshments will be served.

Rhyena Halpern, Assistant Director for the Community Services Department, who oversees the Arts and Sciences Division, states, “CASP artists in residence are supported by the City of Palo Alto to create new works year round and to open their doors twice a year to the public to show those works . We are thrilled to build this creative community together and invite people of all ages and backgrounds to take part and enjoy”.
