the Charter of the City of Palo Alto, the Council on June 9, 2008
did adopt a budget for fiscal year 2008-09; and

B. In fiscal year 2006-07, the City Council appropriated the contract as discussed in CMR:255:08; and

D. Since the approval of the original scope of work of RMC in

Description: This project extends the existing recycled water distribution system to serve customers in Palo Alto. The primary new infrastructure will be a pipeline to deliver recycled water for irrigation and other nonpotable uses such as for processes and cooling towers to City-owned facilities and commercial customers. The target service area is the Stanford Research Park and the project will serve City parks and other users along the pipeline route.

Justification: Recycled water is a locally controlled water resource that is available even in water shortages such as droughts. Water resources are constrained in the Bay Area and there are ongoing pressures to maximize the use of locally available supplies. There are adequate supplies of recycled water produced at the Palo Alto Regional Water Quality Control Plant to meet the project's needs. In addition, the cost of imported water supplies from San Francisco is projected to triple in the next 10 years.

Consultant Services Scope: Completion of a Recycled Water Facilities Plan and preparation of environmental documents before June 30, 2009.

Supplemental Information: This project does not look financially feasible if viewed only from the City of Palo Alto perspective. State grant funds are available for recycled water projects. In addition, funds may be available from the Santa Clara Valley Water District and the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission. Since the project must receive outside funds to be feasible, getting the project in the "ready to go" stage is vital. For state grant funds, being "ready to go" means having completed a facilities plan and environmental review.

The additional scope and cost increase can be attributed to a variety of factors that were not contemplated in the original budget or in Amendment Number One. The additional scope includes:

- Financial Planning: The State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB) recently provided comments on the Draft Facility Plan requesting the City prepare an in-depth financial cash flow analysis for the recycled water project. While a cash flow analysis is common for grant funding applications to the SWRCB, the SWRCB request is unusual at this stage in the process. However, staff believes completion of this activity at this time could result in beneficial cost and time savings in the long term. This task is expected to cost an additional $3,200.

- Revisions to the Administrative Draft Initial Study/Mitigated Negative Declaration (IS/MND) document: The original scope of the project contemplated providing one administrative draft to the City, followed by a public draft and a final document. To date there have been two administrative draft documents provided to the City’s Planning Department. A third review of the administrative draft is now deemed necessary. In addition, two issues related to the potential impacts of recycled water use on existing landscape and greenhouse gas emissions have required additional time and resources that was not foreseen in the original Scope of Work. This task is expected to cost an additional $20,000.

- Preparation of Reports: The current Scope of Work contemplated a limited amount of document preparation for the Facility Plan and the MND. Based on previous reviews of the Administrative Draft MND and Draft Facility Plan, staff is anticipating the current budget is inadequate to meet the need for additional copies. This Task is expected to cost an additional $1,480.

- Project Management: The original project schedule has been delayed to address the aforementioned issues. Further extensions of the schedule are requiring additional project management time and effort by the consultant. This Task is expected to cost an additional $2,400.
The term of the contract is extended to June 1, 2009
