BUSINESS

1. Approval of Draft Minutes of Special Meeting on August 23, 2018
   • Moss noted the correction that the meeting was called to order at 7:00 pm and not at 8:00 pm. Moss moved to approve the minutes with the correction that he suggested, Chin seconded and the minutes for August 23, 2018, were approved.

2. Customer Satisfaction Survey
   • Diane Lai, Division Head, announced that between April 9th, 2018 to April 21st, 2018 the library conducted a Customer Satisfaction Survey. She explained that the key objective was to ensure that the library understood what was important to customers. Five areas of focus for the survey were services, library staff, library programs, collections, and facilities. Staff had planned to do a survey for technology in the fall of 2018. The data was to be used for collection development, program planning, and Staff training.

   • Five hundred and eight individuals participated in the survey. The data collected showed that 46 percent were users of the library for over 10-years, customers prefer to check out books over other resources the library offered, most survey participants had a high satisfaction rate of the libraries, and 377 participants answered that they were very likely to recommend the library to other community members. In terms of most enjoyed library collections, that included audiobooks, children’s books, and international language books. Board books, language books, and DVDs were what people voted to have more of. Teen programs and story times were top of the list for existing programs people enjoyed. In terms of what programs people wanted to see more of, they wanted more adult programs. More parking and longer hours were the top choices on what would make a person’s experience more enjoyable.

   • Moss wanted to know how Staff was going to prioritize demands. Lai explained that looking at the data, collection materials and programs were the top priorities for community members. Finding funding for Staff training was the third priority that the library was focused on.

   • Chin was happy to hear that more programs for adults were going to be implemented. Moss suggested asking local noble prize recipients and Stanford Professors if they would be interested in doing presentations at the libraries.

3. Update on BiblioCommons
   • Ryan Hess, Library Services Manager/Digital Initiative, reminded the Commission that BiblioCommons was chosen because it had the function to separate audiences and materials that appealed to different people on the library’s website. Also, BiblioCommons was mobile responsive so it was accessible on a laptop, phone, or tablet. Other benefits were that it was ADA compliant and the program was constantly improving.

- New user membership increased 1,300 a month, 275 ratings on the website per month, 348 customers added a book to their list to share with other people, and 4,206 books were added to the shelf’s programs per month on the website.

- New programs being implemented or tested by BiblioCommons included FRDR display that categorized all forms that a book came in into one search list, Bay Area account integration meant one login for all libraries that used BiblioCommons, and BiliboWeb v3 would give the library the tools to customize the library’s website more.

- Chin wanted to know about privacy in terms of logging in with one login to access other libraries. Hess explained that BiblioCommons did not collect data and the City investigated their security protocols and was satisfied with their findings.

- Hagan asked for more information on how often the website was used. Hess announced that web traffic was increasing.

4. Library Summer Reading Program Summary Presentation

- Kanth highlighted that local artist Michael Slack was the illustrator for all the drawings that were associated with the Summer Reading Program. For the first time the Summer Reading Program was implemented in all the libraries. New events that were introduced for 2018 were coffee tasting 101, movie night at the library, College Terrace block party and the programs were well attended.

- In terms of how many people participated, the numbers included 2244 kids, 607 teens, 1151 adults, with a total of 4002 participants.

- Moss asked about attendance and how it compared to pass years. Kanth announced that there were big increases in all areas of the program.

- Chin asked if Staff had the data that showed which patrons were returning summer readers from previous years. Kanth stated that because of major changes to the program that data was not collected. Chin added that it was important to maintain that data going forward.

- Hagan suggested Staff put together a summer reading list or summer book club for teens.
