Dear DCity DCouncil

Why is the City Manager wanting to cut funding and close the College Terrace and Children's Library?

This was a battle fought over a year ago and we care very much about these libraries. Now that vaccinated residents can gather and benefit from a library experience why are you proposing to close them:? Why are you punishing residents because of the city's past wrongdoings?

It is not good enough. We will not stand for the resources that make this city of Palo Alto one we want to call home.

Yours sincerely

Dear Mayor and members of the City Council, I have lived in College Terrace since 1967 and hate to recall all the times this neighborhood has had to fight to keep our gem of a library open. Last year we all breathed a sigh of relief when we were spared total closure, once again. Now as the City is faced with more financial troubles, the first choice, as always, is to cut services to residents that make life here pleasant.

I cannot say much about the other libraries on the chopping block because I have never patronized them. My four children all grew up going to the College Terrace library since they could walk or bike there. Now children on this side of ElCamino are to be deprived of that part of their childhood. And, as one of your many senior citizens living here I am definitely not driving across town to wrestle a parking spot at another library.

Quality of life for residents, young and old, should be your priority in making budget decisions. Cut back on projects that can wait until the economy is better.

Very truly yours,

Dear City Council and Finance Committee,

As we emerge from a year of isolation, it seems the perfect time to return to the beloved Community Arts Programming at the Palo Alto Art Center. Children, students, teens and adults all have well-established, highly regarded programs awaiting them there. (Project Look, Cultural Kaleidoscope, Family Days and the exemplary Gallery Arts Exhibition Program among others) These community services are integral to what makes Palo Alto special.

Over the last year, Karen Keinzle and her greatly reduced staff have already faced large budget cuts. They still managed to generate revenue and virtually serve the community with creative programming and classes.

The cuts proposed in today's budget would effectively eliminate all Art Center programming. It would put staff retention at risk. It would put the very Art Center at risk, exactly when we need community services most.

I am a resident of Palo Alto, a past Foundation Board member and a current Emeritus Member. I am the creator of the community arts project "Pottery Creek", flanking the Art Center entryway. I treasure the Art Center and I am just one of many.

I respectfully ask the City Council and Finance Committee to keep the current Art Center funding as is and don't reduce it further. The Art Center is poised to contribute to the health and well being of this community. Don't take away something that makes Palo Alto the special place it is.

Sincerely,
Judith Content

I was surprised and saddened to hear of the plans to close the College Terrace library. This library is part of the heart of our neighborhood, something that makes the neighborhood a special place. It is used by patrons from surrounding communities as well. For seniors, especially those no longer drive, it is a vital link since the other libraries are not easily accessible. Fiscal irresponsibility should not result in this library closure. It seems like money has been spent during a pandemic that could have been reserved for a later date. Teachers who aren't teaching still rate a pay raise while families deal with the lack of a proper education for their children and the lack of socialization. Of course revenue is down because businesses have gone under, but our library has been closed for more than a year so we are not a drain on the budget. Last year we petitioned to save our library and it was understood that other savings would be found. It is hard to believe that a year later other possible solutions have not become available that don't involve closing our library. I urge you to reconsider the library closure. Linda Logan

Dear City Council-

This email is a commentary on the upcoming budget cuts. Neighborhoods, youth services such as the Children's Library and the Children's Theater, our parks, our library system, ALL the stations in the PAFD, PAPD, our restaurants and retail establishments, our safe bikeways are what has defined Palo Alto as a special community for decades. We need a budget that supports those things, not one that erodes them. Cuts that impact those things should be last on the block; look first at consultant fees, capital projects that can be deferred or even eliminated, and any administrative excess that can be trimmed.

Thank you,

Dear Council Members:

I am writing this note to plead for a fair and equitable treatment of funding for the Palo Alto Art Center. The proposed reductions will reduce this Gem of Palo Alto into a transactional pay for classes commercial establishment. That will be an irrecoverable tragedy for the community. I am used to dealing with tight budgets and making tough calls in my professional life and completely understand how difficult it is. I've also learned over the years the difference between strategic and tactical calls. I respectfully urge you to keep the strategic nature of the art center & it's philanthropic model front and center in making your final decisions.

Hello City Council:

We are 30 Year residents of the College Terrace neighborhood.

We have enjoyed walking with our kids to "our" library to choose books, research projects and find books for ourselves. NOW it is time for our grandkids to WALK to preschool story time.

We fought the closing of our little, community oriented gathering spot LAST year and we are prepared to do it again.

It seems like the city of Palo Alto is unfairly and unjustly undermining the very neighborhood and community we love. First you want to take away our library.

Second you want to totally close our fire station in the same week!

Third....we all PAID for our RPP program this year...under threats of fines, etc.

That was $200 for our home and we have had NO enforcement whatsoever.

It feels like to us and our neighbors that we are being unfairly disadvantaged.

PLEASE PLEASE DO NOT close the beloved College Terrace library.

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organization. Be cautious of opening attachments and clicking on links.

Hello Council members,

I live in Crescent Park, am the mother of 16-year-old twin girls, and serve on the board of the Friends of the Palo Alto Children's Theatre.

The theatre is a treasure in our city. It is nationally recognized, having won a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. It is also ground-breaking: it recently collaborated with Stanford on an innovative program at the intersection of theatre and technology. However, most importantly, our theatre is beloved by our community.

When I first moved to Palo Alto, my girls were 5 years old. When I asked friends for recommendations for fun activities for kids, the Children's Theatre was at the top of many people's lists. My family especially loved watching the outdoor hot dog shows on a picnic blanket in the summer.

My girls fell in love with theatre, first as spectators then as participants. However, many fans of the theater did not have budding thespians in their families. Rather they just enjoyed going to the theatre. It is important to remember that many in our community engage with and love the Theatre simply as audience members.

As you have heard, the theatre is a special place for children struggling with mental health challenges. For many kids struggling with anxiety and depression, the theatre is the only activity that brings them joy and hope. We know this at the theatre because many parents have shared their stories of the life-altering impact it has had on their children.

Also, now more than ever, our community needs this important resource. According to the Center for Disease Control, during COVID, Mental Health-Related Emergency Room visits increased 24% for children aged 5-11 and 31% for children aged 12-17.

Finally, I want to raise another question that I urge the Council to reflect upon. The theatre is extremely fortunate to be led by an eminently qualified African American man, Judge Luckey. Judge graduated from the University of Michigan's performing arts program, consistently rated the top theatre program in the country. Before joining us, he had a long and successful career in theatre and television. Most important, he is beloved by both parents and children for his talent and dedication. The stellar productions he directs are so popular that we parents have to jump online the day tickets go on sale because the weekend performances sell out immediately.

Throughout our nation, non-profits, government entities, and corporate America are struggling to improve diversity in their staff. So, it is extremely perplexing to many of us that only community service slated for total elimination under the Tier 2 reduction plan is the only one run by African American man who is also uniquely qualified, talented, and esteemed.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Lydia Callaghan

Hello Respective Members of The City Council,

My name is Norma, and I am the Store Director of Sephora, located in the gorgeous Downtown area, where we pride ourselves in being Downtown's "Friendly Neighborhood Sephora".

I have worked for Sephora for 16 years, with my time split between corporate and field positions, my specialty being Internal Marketing, Recruiting, and Talent Development and of that time, I have worked in Palo Alto for five years, commuting from Oakland because of the passion and satisfaction I get from serving the Palo Alto community. I am not alone here, my team is very much the same, commuting in from a myriad of cities surrounding Palo Alto, the average commute time being about 30 minutes. While my team has been faced with the same level of adversities many people have faced, they still put a smile on their face and graciously and passionately provide this neighborhood with the service and experience they deserve, and as I roam the blocks of downtown, I see the same passionate faces reflected back at me that I see in my store. The people who work in Palo Alto love working here.

I feel compelled to call to the council of one important detail, and that is that the people who serve your community are not of this community.

They are from surrounding cities, many underserved, which is why they come to cities like Palo Alto for a better opportunity. They all rely on programs like TMA aid to get them into work. With parking being enforced once again, many are choosing to take advantage of programs like TMA and losing that will result in turnover that will hurt the traffic flow and business that my contemporaries in the area and I worked so hard to build and sustain during the global pandemic. Residents of Palo Alto's career path do not align with the positions that benefit from TMA, they are not looking for positions like Servers, Cashiers, Hosts, and I ask the council to take great consideration in this. I ask that you take considerations of who is benefitting from programs like this, and what the financial impact would be in losing employees that would inevitably result in business loss, and with the great effort that the City of Palo Alto did to maintain the businesses of this area, to remove programs like TMA would undo so much of that effort.

Respectfully yours,

I am one of the “approximately 30” people who participated in Thursday’s meeting about the budget. And I started the online survey but stopped b/c it appears to be designed to narrow responses.

A top concern: the proposed closing of Fire Station #2. This station serves not only surrounding neighborhoods, including the area commonly known as the research park, but also the Foothills Preserve. This morning the message below was hanging on our front door. That our firefighters find it necessary to request community support to keep a needed fire station open is a new low for Palo Alto. The news is replete with warnings about the drought and wind and fire danger this year. Foothills Preserve was opened without a management plan for fire and life safety in place. I think that was a mistake. I urge you to not compound that mistake by further reducing staffing at Station 2. As the station closest to the Preserve, Station 2 should be staffed 24/7 during the fire station and at least on weekends the remainder of the year.

The Fire Chief can address this far better than I, but I think staffing reductions increase the amount of overtime worked and limit PAFD’s ability to participate in statewide master mutual aid efforts. Cutting Station 2 may allow you to balance #s on a budget spreadsheet, but it could well prove to be penny wise and pound foolish.

Annette Ross

Subject: Request for the Utility Advisory Commission to Evaluate and Reduce Suspended Solids in Palo Alto Drinking Water

Commission Members,

This email develops concerns and makes recommendations to improve the Palo Alto drinking water quality. In short, Palo Alto's water is high in suspended solids (mud and silt) which consequently impacts health and maintenance. The City does not monitor for this occurrence nor does the supplier City of San Francisco Public Utility Commission (SFPUC). The recommendation in this email is for City of Palo Alto Utilities (CPAU) to evaluate and characterize the siltation, and if validated, create a modest capital project to install 5 micron filtration at the 5 points of connection between Palo Alto and the supplying water network maintained by the SFPUC. I hope that this can find its way into the UAC's work plan being prepared for Council.

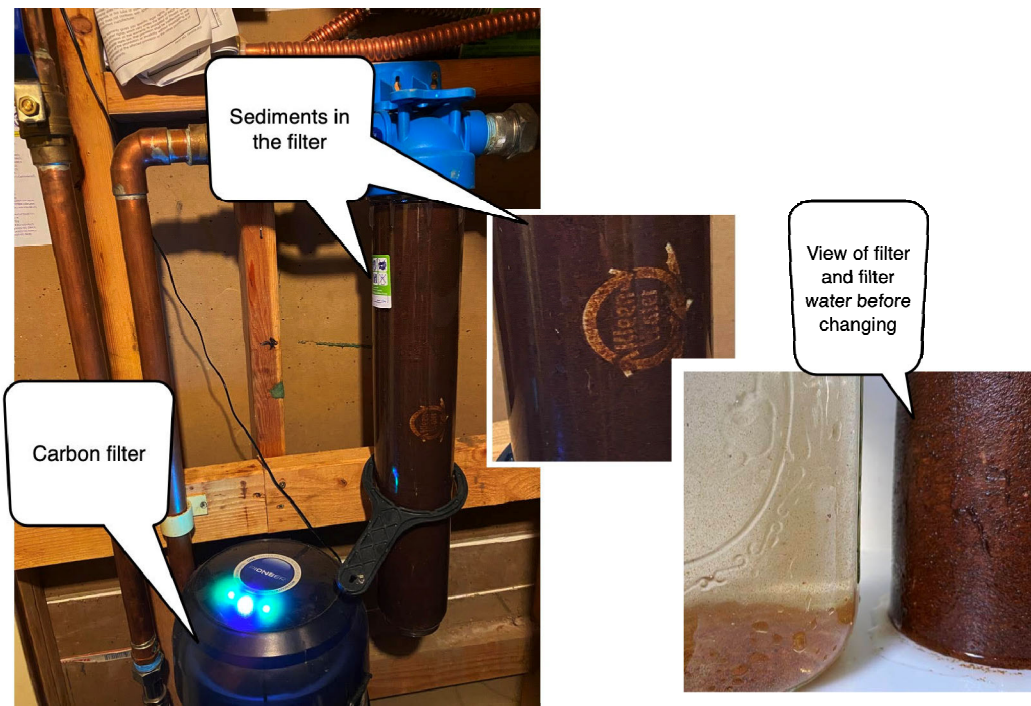

Background

Palo Alto lives with a concept that our water is the finest in the world - Sierra water from Hetch Hetchy. Actually, while the source may be the Sierras, the water passes through several reservoirs where silts get entrained in our water, and is delivered "raw" to Palo Alto - no filtration. The water is only treated for bacteria by chloramination.

I learned first hand of this quality, compared experiences across the Crescent Park, and with a landscape contractor describing the general word on the street is Palo Alto's water quality is poor from suspended solids. (Suspended solids measure solids that are entrained in the water, while dissolved solids (TDS) measure solids (like salt) that dissolve in the water) However, Palo Alto does achieve state and federal standards, but like schools, achieving minimum standards when our health and thriving are core, is not the bar we seek to achieve. There are compelling reasons to do better, as I introduce.

I came to this issue by trying to address another water quality challenge - I sought to remove Trihalomethanes (e.g. chloroform - THMs) a bi-product of chloramination. The chloramine imparts a taste, and the THMs pose carcinogenic risk by drinking and inhalation in shower water. Their removal or destruction is via carbon filtration, but prior to carbon filtration, in order to preserve the carbon's useful life, one provides filtration of solids to 5 micron. Through this filtration I came to realize the sedimentation in our water.

Within 5 weeks my cartridge filter for the indoor water is spent (photos below). Initially I worked with Utilities to request line flushing on the street with no impact. Our water mains are new. While Utilities postulated a home issue, I queried via the CPNA group and found others afflicted by the same problem - many of whom gave up after the persistent siltation in the water. Others are burdened by the tedium of changing filters continuously.

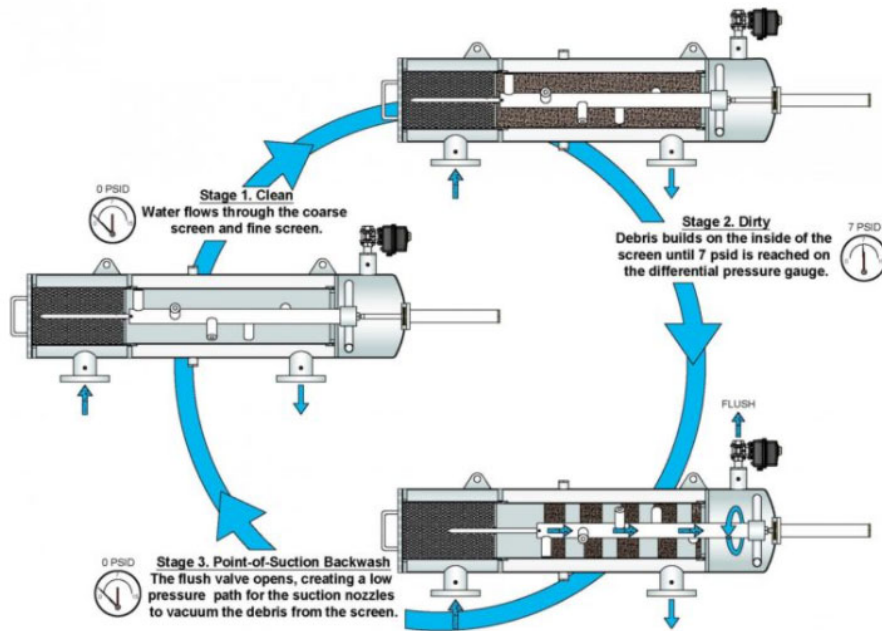

I worked with city staff who constructively engaged on this topic. I learned the reliance on SFPUC, I learned of the testing - and lack of testing for solids. I observed that the City's knowledge of drinking water quality could be stronger, in that we were too reliant on SFPUC. I began to evaluate the conventionality of municipal level filtration, and began to feel confident that there are steps that could be taken. (As background, I am an environmental engineer, and while drinking water is not my area of practice, I feel confident to develop this concern.)

Setting Direction

We are fortunate to have a water utility, and the ability to manage our water to the goals we could set as a City. I would ask the UAC or staff to start to analyze and engineer soon. This is a consulting engagement in all likelihood, however, I can forecast next steps.

First Analyze. The City should confirm the sediment load as Total Suspended Solids, a distribution of particle size, and the proportion that is inorganic versus organic. Why measure organics? As we chlorinate the water (and the chlorination drives the THM formation), the amount of chlorine demand is proportional to the organic load in the water. As such removal of organic load in our water, reduces the formation of THMs. The size distribution would inform any future selection of filtration.

Anticipate a Conceptual Design Approach. Each of the five points-of-entry into Palo Alto has the capacity to move 5,000 gallons per minute. (In total the City can utilize upwards of 15,000 to 25,000 gpm at maximum demand across all entry points.) There is conventional technology for continuous filtration to 5 micron (equivalent to what is needed to then apply carbon in a home). The technology has continuous automated backwashing that would remove the solids to a purple pipe or irrigation system. A representative filtration unit is $125k, and installed and engineered may be $500k. Therefore a total project could be $2.5 million or with contingency $4 million, perhaps with a $200k annual maintenance. The annual water enterprise fund is about $61 million per year, so this is a nominal expense.

There would be benefits to CPAU given a reduced need to flush lines as I expect tons of sediments from our raw water settle into our pipes. Homeowners and businesses would see less clogging of appliances, and more durability of drip systems that irrigate. The health impact would be significant given a reduction of THMs into the homes and businesses. And frankly our water would taste better.

My note is seeking to be constructive, and I have done my best with the understanding. I know our utility staff can carry this forward, but I believe it is up to the UAC or even Council to set this as a priority. I know that work plans are being put in place for the various commissions, and I would ask that this be introduced as a priority to start addressing within the 6 month plan. With data, we can better evaluate a concern, but now our City is unfortunately blind as there is not data collected to vet the anecdotal experience of residents and business.

I am ready to provide a presentation to the UAC, but as said be a team player to work this with the support of staff. It just felt that to get the ball moving, I had to lift this to your attention. We can all learn a bit about water quality along the way!

Sincerely,

Bob Wenzlau

Dear Honorable City Council Members,

I am writing to ask you NOT to eliminate any of the funding to Palo Alto's Libraries, Art Center, and Children's Theater, and their affiliated programs. They are the jewels of Palo Alto, and what makes Palo Alto a great town!!

Please re-consider the cuts you made, and find another way to keep funding these valuable, vital institutions!

And please consider these facts below:

Did you know that the Palo Alto Art Center celebrates its 50th anniversary this year?

Did you know that for 50 years, Palo Alto Art Center has pride itself in providing creative opportunities for ALL AGES to see and make art?

Did you know that the SEEING part—the part that makes the Art Center a MUSEUM and not simply a community center providing art classes and camps—has garnered national recognitions including federal grant supports from the very prestigious National Endowment for the Arts and the Institute for Museum and Library Services?

Did you know that the SEEING part—our exhibitions—also bring in works from Picasso (yes, Picasso), MacArthur Foundation Genius Award artists Titus Kaphar and Whitfield Lovell (both of them are in our current exhibition The Black Index), and many widely-recognized contemporary artists in the San Francisco Bay Area and nationally, in addition to art works from PAUSD K-12 students?

Did you know that the SEEING part—our exhibitions—also form the basis of our school tour program Project Look where nearly 4,000 students, teachers and chaperones participated in 176 tours during the 2019-20 school year? These students, teachers and chaperones came from 38 schools in Palo Alto, East Palo Alto, Belmont, Cupertino, Foster City, Fremont, Los Altos, Menlo Park, Mountain View, Portola Valley, Redwood City, San Carlos, Santa Clara, and Saratoga.

Did you know that Project Look support the development of 21st-century skills—critical to the overall development of these youngsters? If you have school-age children, chances are they have participated in at least one Project Look tour. Teachers report their Art Center experience allowed their students to practice creativity (100%), communication (92%), critical thinking (96%), and collaboration (58%).

Did you also know that the Palo Alto Art Center Foundation contributes more than $200,000 annually to supplement the city budget for all Art Center programs?

Did you know that by ELIMINATING our exhibition program, Project Look, free Teen & Family programs, and Cultural Kaleidoscope, you take away the causes for support, severely reducing the Foundation's ability to raise $750,000 a year from institutional and individual donors?

We hope there's little need to continue listing the impact the proposed budget cuts will have on the viability of the Palo Alto Art Center—a gem in the City of Palo Alto. What the City chooses to spend money on reflects its values. Are we a city that think the arts are extra and expandable? Are we a city that believe “cost-recovery” trumps ensuring accessibility for all?

Sincerely and Hopefully,

Dear Council Members,

I was quite shocked and disheartened to learn that the city of Palo Alto is considering closing Fire Station # 2. It is bad enough that there has been a nighttime and weekend reduction of a firetruck and paramedic ambulance.

Not only is this a highly populated area, with many homes and businesses, but this station is closest to the foothills. All of which would be at risk should there be a local fire in the area.

In our new era of yearly wildfires and very dry winters, these decisions to reduce services are not only short-sighted, they are indeed a bad and potentially dangerous one.

As we all lived through the scares of last year's fires and smoke filled air for several weeks, I know I was glad for nearby services. Such important public safety services should be increased and supported, not lessened or eliminated.

It is my understanding that there are Unallocated Funds from the American Rescue Plan that can be used to keep Station # 2 open. I deeply hope that you and the city make the right decision to support our fire station both by reinstating the firetruck and medic van for evenings and weekends, as well as keeping this station open. We need more services, not fewer!

Subject: Proposed Full-Time Closure of Foothills Park Fire Station

Dear City Council Members - I understand that the Palo Alto City Council is considering permanently closing the Fire Station that is within Foothills Park. This Fire Station is the first level of defense for the Palo Alto residents that are west of Highway 280 and I respectfully urge you to reconsider the proposed closing of this critical resource. Please keep in mind:

- Last August, the CZU Lightning Complex Fire burned more than 86,000 acres and destroyed nearly 1,500 buildings just above the Palo Alto foothills. The Palo Alto residents on Skyline boulevard were ordered to evacuate and the nearly 80 Palo Alto homes in my neighborhood were placed on "Evacuation Standby" as the fire approached from the West.
- The homes in my neighborhood have a current assessed value of approximately $235 million which generates just over $2.8 million in property tax each year. If there is a fire in our neighborhood, this property tax revenue will be diminished significantly until the homes are rebuilt.
- Our lack of rain this year has substantially increased the risk of fire in 2021. Removing the only "first warning" resource in the Palo Alto foothills via the closure of the Foothill Park Fire Station is inviting a circumstance where a small fire could spread into a much larger one that impossible to contain without widespread property damage.
- Last December, the City Council officially opened Foothills Park to the public which resulted in a overwhelming increase in daily attendance which has been cited to be as much as 1,600 people per day. Council Member Eric Filseth was quoted as observing that when he visited the park, he confronted:

"an amusement park atmosphere with cars everywhere and people disregarding park rules..I saw people walking down hillsides..I saw someone throw their trash on a hillside. I saw dogs off leash chasing squirrels through the underbrush...I saw kids throw rocks at water fowl"

If there are this many people now visiting Foothill Park – many of whom who have presumably not lived within a high fire area – what is to keep them from improperly disposing of cigarettes, lit materials, or ignoring proper campfire and barbeque guidelines if they cannot follow the simplest of park rules?

- The only protection that the park and the adjoining neighborhoods have is the Fire Station at Foothills Park. The next closest Palo Alto Fire Station is over 13 minutes away by car which I suspect would be significantly longer by fire truck given the terrain of the road and the backup of cars on Page Mill Road who are attempting to visit Foothills Park.

Given the drought conditions in the area, the potential for significant property (and tax revenue) loss, and the influx of new visitors who may not appreciate the fire hazard in the area, I urge you to please reconsider closing the Fire Station. Once our rainfall returns to normal, and the crowds at Foothills Park diminish, you can reconsider the closure. But given the current circumstances that we are now in such a decision could be disastrous to the Palo Alto and other communities west of Highway 280.

Thank you,

The Childrens' Theater has been central to my childhood. Before I could take part in them, I would go to plays whenever I could. Then, I started ushering. The minute that I was old enough to be in one I auditioned. It has helped me develop excellent public speaking skills that are taught only sporadically in the school system. In fact, my skills are already deteriorating in quarantine. I was going to speak out in the meeting but I got very nervous and choked up. Before quarantine I got into the production of Cinderella, and was incredibly happy, I was so excited, but now look how many children will be deprived of this. It helped me build community as I did not do team sports. So please, do not close down this organization as it has brought so joy to all of us.

Thank you so much for considering,

Dear City Council Members, Vice-Mayor, and Mayor,

I urge you to consider other ways to raise revenue so that the Palo Alto children's theater, the library, and the Palo Alto Art Center are not adversely impacted. As a parent and citizen, I see all that these organizations add to my children's lives on a regular basis. They have all done a magnificent job during the pandemic. It would be a shame to cut them radically now.

Art classes and theatre classes in-person were the absolute highlight of last summer. My children will participate again in just another month. I have just resumed taking ceramics in person at the Art Center. It is wonderful!

I understand that there are budgetary constraints but dismantling well-loved programs that add profound value to our community is a poor way forward. Let's keep Palo Alto going as the vibrant and exciting city we know and love. It is good for our kids and good for all of us.

Thank you,
Yara Sellin

Dear City Council,

Please do NOT cut the Art Center Budget in the severe manner you've discussed. With the pending cut, the Art Center would lose ALL city support for our exhibition program, all teen programs, all free Family Day program, Project Look and Cultural Kaleidoscope. Effectively reducing the Art Center to a community center offering paid classes.

We are finally getting our libraries back. People all ages have been deprived of all the library means - from preschool story hours to serious research. Please don't cut the services our city treasures most.

Dear Mayor DuBois and Palo Alto City Council Members,

First, I am writing as an individual and not representing any organization with which I am affiliated.

Second, thank you for your service to the City. I realize that you are investing massive amounts of time, energy and care in leading our community and that responsibility is especially magnified during a time of budget belt-tightening. I realize this is a complex and painful process with numerous dynamics at play. Thank you also for holding the Town Hall last week. That was helpful.

My purpose in writing today is two-fold:

- 1.
2. To
3. express my strong opposition to the proposed cuts to the Palo Alto Art Center and to any further cuts to the Art Center budget.

- 1.
2. To
3. urge you to rethink a "zero sum" budgeting process whereby you pit one treasured community resource against another. Rather, I urge you to be creative (and yes, the Art Center is in the business of nurturing creativity in all its guises) and take the long
4. view with regard to how resources from a wide range of sources are deployed. We can do better than to take a short term view of how to solve the current budget challenges.

I have been involved in the Palo Alto Art Center for nearly 34 years - having served on the board twice, currently serving on the Emeritus Board and actively engaged on significant projects throughout, including the transition from the Palo Alto Cultural Center to the Palo Alto Art Center and the Capital Campaign to renovate the Art Center. As a practicing artist, a parent, a community leader and longtime resident of Palo Alto, I am proud to be associated with the Palo Alto Art Center and regard it as one of the most vital ingredients of the Palo Alto "recipe".

Meanwhile, here we sit in the birthplace of Silicon Valley with more resources than nearly any community in the world, where creativity fuels both an astounding economic engine and a longstanding, thriving community. Richard Florida makes the case for the creative class in his book by that name: The Creative Class.

As you are already aware - from your own data and the many letters and speakers that have outlined - the draconian cuts proposed piling on top of the already massive reductions in resources for the Palo Alto Art Center. I echo and underscore the points made by Jeannie Duisenberg in her thoughtful letter to you:

- 1.
- 2. The
- 3. cuts are inequitable.
4. The proposed cuts represent cuts upon cuts that would literally starve the Art Center to death.

- 1.
- 2. Karen
- 3. Kienzle is the beating heart of the Art Center.
4. I served on the hiring panel that hired Karen (as I did for the hiring panel for Linda Craighead, her predecessor.) The Art Center has a history, reputation and current standing that is of the highest quality, allowing it to "punch well above its weight class"
5. because of the quality of leadership. Karen is extraordinary. A Palo Alto native, she is a world class arts leader and educator and has demonstrated professionalism, creativity and dedication that goes above and beyond the call of duty. She inspires her team

6. and the PAACF donor community to do the same. Karen Kwan, the director of development for the Palo Alto Art Center Foundation is another such gem. Think of Karen as the goose who lays the golden egg(s). With such cuts, we would almost certainly lose Karen.
7. We lose her at our peril - especially at this time.

2. The

3. Art Center is the original Public Private Partnership.

4. The Council should assume that you will lose most, if not all of the additional funds raised and invested in the Art Center as a result of these proposed cuts. The Art Center has been a leader in this way, touted for decades as the poster child for public/private
5. partnerships. You will lose the leverage of the community capital that has taken decades to build.

- Unlike
- the proposed entrance fee for the Junior Museum and Zoo and the Municipal Golf Course fee which went from $20>$100 post renovation, the Art Center went through a significant renovation and continued its donation-based entrance policy, again, a model for public
- access and inclusivity.
- Private
- money contributes $750,000 annually to the Art Center Foundation and makes the already small City budget contribution multiply 10 fold in programming and
- community
- engagement,
- with up to 800 volunteers in a year to serve over 150,000 people, not to mention the art exposure to literally thousands of school children. That would evaporate.

4. Don't assume you can bring the Art Center back from the dead.

Compared to the money that the City spends on consultants each year among many other expenses, the latest round of proposed cuts to the Art Center budget- and many other line items on the chopping block (such as the part time community garden coordinator) - are minor. It does not work to keep cutting and expect everything to bounce back if you later decide to restore the budget. It doesn't work like that.

5. The Palo Alto Art Center is a powerhouse institution. The arts are known to be "second responders" - feeding the spirits of the youngest to the oldest among us. (Think mental health for youth and everyone.) The Art Center is an example of a community resource that helps us flourish rather than languish.

Let's use our collective creativity to figure this out!

Sincerely,

Lisa

Subject: Save Fire Station #2 - Community Priority to keep this station open!

Hello!

I'm writing to express my voice and strong opposition to the proposed budget cut/closing of Fire Station #2 in Palo Alto. I have resided in Palo Alto's College Terrace neighborhood for 30+ years and have benefited from its close proximity to my house in College Terrace for personal emergencies - one for which their quick response was timely in preventing further crisis while my father was suffering from a stroke.

In addition to the impact to emergency response times in our neighborhood, I am also concerned that the proposed budgetary cut would leave this station shuttered in a year in which we are already dealing with severe drought conditions throughout California, earlier in the season than is typical. Given this station's proximity to the Foothills, it would be advantageous to keep it open, to help with any issues that may result from this extremely dry season. Not to mention the countless number of businesses located in this area, who also rely on the proximity of this station for quick responses in the event of emergencies.

I would like to know why we're not prioritizing funding for this vital service in our community, especially in light of the fact that unallocated funds from the American Rescue plan are available and could be utilized to help keep this station open. This needs to be prioritized this fiscal year, it's a vital service that we cannot afford to shutter at this time - there are other ways to save money in the budget without losing vital city services that will have a fundamental impact on the quality of life in Palo Alto. Please reconsider this cut - there needs to be a better way to allocate funding for urgent needs that maintain the quality of services in Palo Alto.

Thank you for taking time to read this email.

Subject: Opposing draconian cuts to the Palo Alto Art Center budget

Dear City Council Members,

I write today to express my opposition to the City of Palo Alto's proposal to reduce funding to the Palo Alto Art Center, halving its budget from levels two years ago and crippling its ability to sustain its work in the city.

Fifteen years ago I started the process to raise money to renovate the Art Center. The board of the Palo Alto Art Center Foundation entered into a public/private partnership with the City. Private citizens supported the partnership in good faith, contributing millions of dollars, so that the Art Center's alteration would benefit the community, and it has.

The current budget proposal is a betrayal of the public's confidence in the city's commitment to the Palo Alto Art Center. It is also a betrayal of the Art Center's staff, who worked diligently in the current fiscal year to keep the public engaged in the Art Center despite the closure of the physical facility during many months and the reduction in staffing levels. I don't know of another organization of its size that pivoted as quickly, absorbed new technology and found the creativity to offer classes and lectures throughout a challenging year, both inside and outside.

The vibrant life for which the city is known is ebbing away. Years of effort to build a trained staff and a national reputation that attracted grants from major public institutions, private foundations and individuals is being tossed aside. The survival of the Art Center is at risk, its current viability is tenuous and will be made more so by additional reductions.

I ask you to rethink the damage you are causing in the Palo Alto community with the proposed cuts in staff and programs.

Respectfully,
Anne Gregor

Subject: Implications of FY22 budget on Palo Alto Art Center

Dear Council Members,

We wanted to bring to your attention the implications of the FY22 budget on Palo Alto Art Center. If the proposed FY22 budget passes without Council's intervention, the Palo Alto Art Center as we know it will cease to exist, and rebuilding it will be a monumental task.

For 50 years, the Palo Alto Art Center has prided itself on providing creative opportunities for all ages to see and make art. The "seeing" part is what makes the Art Center a museum and not simply a community center providing art classes and camps. As you might know, the Art Center has garnered national recognition including federal grant support from the very prestigious National Endowment for the Arts and the Institute for Museum and Library Services. You might also know that our regionally and nationally recognized exhibitions have brought in works from Picasso (yes, Picasso), MacArthur Foundation Genius Award artists Titus Kaphar and Whitfield Lovell (both of them are in our current exhibition The Black Index), and many regionally and nationally-recognized contemporary artists, in addition to art works from PAUSD K-12 students.

The Palo Alto Art Center Foundation—a close partner with the Palo Alto Art Center and the city of Palo Alto since 1973—has raised millions from institutional funders and devoted individual supporters to supplement City funding for all Art Center programs. If the City of Palo Alto does not continue to maintain its support to the Palo Alto Art Center, it will result in elimination of our free programs for the community - exhibitions, Project Look, teen and family programs, and Cultural Kaleidoscope. These programs are positively received by thousands of attendees each year. With the proposed budget cuts, the Art Center will be reduced to a place for only paid classes. This will also strip the Foundation's ability to fundraise.

As the state gears up for gradual recovery from COVID-19 pandemic, these cuts particularly seem harsh and short-sighted. More than ever, the community needs the Art Center and its programs now. We sincerely hope the Council finds alternative ways to prevent the budget cuts to the Palo Alto Art Center and other programs. These programs make Palo Alto a great place to live and grow a family.

Sincerely,

Shruti Sheorey, Palo Alto Art Center Foundation, Vice President

To whom it may concern:

I just read about the City Council's approval of an $18 entrance fee to the new Palo Alto Junior Museum and zoo, and I felt compelled to express my objections. I understand the budgetary considerations here, and I will not recap the objections that other concerned groups have raised about the assumptions behind the model that led to this pricing, nor how this ticket price compares to other bay area attractions.

Instead I will simply observe that as long as the JMZ continues to be publicly subsidized at all, it is imperative that it be accessible to the public, and an $18 entrance fee does not meet that imperative. It also seems to be completely at odds with the mission and values that justify JMZs existence in the first place. There are plenty of expensive destination experiences for children in our area. We don't need JMZ for that. JMZ should be a community resource, and the approach to funding it should be compatible with that purpose.

Hello Palo Alto City Council,

I very much value the community garden system in Palo Alto and have benefitted from produce grown in the gardens over the last few years. When I was a resident in 1994-1998, one of the first things I did was apply for a plot at Johnson Park north of downtown. It was a great way to meet local neighbors and spend some time outdoors. Now that I have moved to Menlo Park, I still get to enjoy the great community gardens because a friend of mine grows beautiful tomatoes each year that she generously shares. Please allocate budget to hold onto this precious community resource.

Hello,

My family and I have been eagerly awaiting the reopening of the JMZ-- and we enjoyed the interim location, pre-Covid. I've just learned that the ticket price is set to be over $18, however, which would dramatically change the way we visit the JMZ. I had been looking forward to a local attraction for drop-in visits on quiet afternoons, like we used the old JMZ, just for an hour or ninety minutes, at a low cost. In that situation, we could visit the JMZ much like we did the library-- every two or three weeks, if admission cost $25 or less for me and my two children. If it's going to be more than that, especially a staggering $18, then it is a different kind of activity, a special occasion where we might visit twice a year, as we do with other big zoos and museums. And there are many families who won't have the means to visit at all. Please reconsider what the JMZ is meant to be in the community.

Thank you,

Dear City Councilmembers,

I understand that a cutback in services and even closure of the Hanover St. fire station has been proposed as a cost-saving measure for the City. As a resident of Palo Alto Hills I must strenuously object to this cutback as it would seriously impact response time for our neighborhood and anyone else who lives up Page Mill Road. This is no time to cut back on firefighting readiness given the current dry conditions. My understanding is that funding is available from the American Rescue Plan for these services. Please do not deprive us of these services at this time.

The proposed $18/person entrance fee to JMZ is so wrong.

Save some money? — Why is the street sweeper still operating in my Barron Park neighborhood on May 10? We have no sidewalks and cars are parked everywhere on the streets eliminating the sweeper's access to tree droppings. All the street sweeper does is coat cars and landscape with dust and pollen and aggravate allergies. At this time of year it's a waste of money, in my opinion.

To Whom it May Concern,

I am writing to convey my disappointment in the city's proposed budget plan to eliminate Project Look. As a local elementary art teacher, Project Look is THE ONLY LOCAL established museum experience catering to young students. It is the field trip opportunity that my program uses to introduce the museum experience to Kindergarteners and 1st graders. All other opportunities are too far or don't combine the museum visit with an activity, which is perfect for students of this age.

This will have a big impact on my personal art program and I know the art programs at many other schools who use Project Look as a local museum experience for students.

I ask you to reconsider your budget cuts. The arts are so important in cultivating the growth of the whole child. Seeing works in person is a unique experience as artwork translates differently in real life vs. on the screen. Many students do not have access to museums and will only have this type of experience through school programming. This program serves LOCAL students, and it would be a shame to rid our local community of this opportunity.

Thank you for your consideration,
Keriann

Subject: Community Gardens

Hi Palo Alto City Council,

My name is David Weller, I'm a local teacher for the Palo Alto school district and a resident of Palo Alto. I've lived in Palo Alto for the last four years and have really enjoyed living here in an apartment. Thanks for all that you've done to help make Palo Alto a great place to live.

One year ago (May 2020), I joined the Rinconada Community Garden and have really enjoyed gardening, learning about sustainability, and getting to know other neighbors in the community. This past year, I've learned a lot about the importance of composting, eating locally, and promoting a sustainable food system. I've also been learning about the importance of native plants, bee gardens, and butterfly gardens. It's been such a great experience for me to learn more about how closely we are connected to the landscape around us.

I consider myself young :) I'm 28 years old and have found a great community with people of all ages, but mostly people who are older than me, at the community garden. I've been learning from so many neighbors and have made wonderful friends at the garden. I know that many of the gardeners have made friends and have had their lives enriched through having these gardens. Also, we have enjoyed seeing residents who do not garden, who have enjoyed walking through the garden and talking with gardeners. Thank you for all you've done to help these prior years to support these gardens. It's such a warm and welcoming place to be and people are moved when they explore and plant in these gardens.

Would you please consider finding any alternative besides dissolving the community gardens of Palo Alto? Of course my first choice would be for everything to stay the same and all city positions kept at their full FTE. If this is not possible, can we please consider the gardens to be run by volunteers? We already have a few volunteers at the gardens who do a lot of excellent work and communicate with people on the waitlist for plots and help people as they are about to leave the garden. Maybe the volunteers would run the gardens for a couple of years until the revenue comes back to the city and then we can have a new FTE available to support the gardens?

I understand that you all have many difficult decisions here with the budget and revenue. I sincerely urge you to consider what you can do to help keep the community gardens going in Palo Alto. It's been a great source of hope and joy in my life, and I know it's been an important piece in what makes Palo Alto a beautiful and great place to live.

Also, if you'd like, I'd love to show you around the Rinconada community garden after school this week or next week :)

Thanks so much for all you do.

Dear Council Members:

We have lived and worked in Palo Alto since 1984. We came here from a small city south of Santa Barbara when our kids were in elementary school. One of the first things I did when we arrived was seek out activities for my kids. I was amazed by the choices available and was thrilled with our good fortune to have moved here and felt that over-paying for our house (even back then) did come with benefits.

Over the years that our kids were growing up, and now that we have a grandchild, we have taken advantage of and enjoyed greatly frequent visits to the Jr Museum, classes at the Art Center, weekly story times at the Children's Library, and visits to the many other parks and gardens that enhance life in Palo Alto. We have had dozens of outings to Foothills Park leaving us with lasting memories of hikes, family gatherings, and celebrations in that beautiful space. And now, each one of these places seems to be at risk of either surviving or becoming a cash cow for the the city. What is going on over there in your chambers? Have you become so used to having these enriching programs available that you know longer realize the importance of them being accessible to the community?

Please demonstrate that you are creative enough to find ways to trim costs in places other than these and allow Palo Alto to remain the unique and enriching city it has always been.

Thank you for your time,

Dear City Council Members,

I learned that the City Council is considering the proposed closure of Fire Station #2 on Hanover Street.

I strongly urge you to keep this fire station open permanently. The risk of wildfires in the Palo Alto Foothills area has increased markedly in recent years and is likely to become even higher. The closure of Fire Station #2, the nearest to the western part of the fire district, would slow the response to fires and make lives and property more vulnerable.

I very much hope you will keep Fire Station #2 open round-the-clock to protect lives and property, both residential and commercial.

Dear City Council,

I am writing to say how shocked I am that there are proposals to cut quality of life services for Palo Alto residents due to budget reasons. I am not happy that the things that are proposed cutting include things that affect families, children, teens and ordinary residents such as those who enjoy the community garden, the art centre, the childrens theatre and include a ridiculously high cost of entering a zoo & museum for a family.

I would like to ask you to consider reducing costs by finding ways that the staff at City Hall can be reduced, particularly at the management and higher level, reducing costs of surveys and studies, consultants fees, and similar cost effective cutting measures that will not affect residents' quality of life and safety issues.

Thanking you for your time.

This is to point out how important it is to keep fire station #2 open!!!

We have a fire in our house in the past.. Thanks to fire station #2 , they are in close proximity and were able to minimize our damages.

The firefighters are very supportive during the whole ordeal.

This year is going to be another drought year. We need to have a fire station close to Palo Alto Foothills.

Nobody wants to experience an earthquake, but just in case there is one, we need more firefighters!!! We have seniors living around, they will need help immediately.

Please use the unallocated fund from the American Rescue Plan to keep Station 2 open!!!

Thank you for your consideration.

Please make the right and life saving decisions.

Received a flyer on my door from the Palo Alto Firefighters, and I'm upset that a special interest would fight so hard too avoid a few cuts. This is a zero sum game and if you don't cut fire fighters you'll be cutting some other critical service to the bone.

I've become convinced that with changes to building codes, the chance of a house fire has dramatically decreased over the last 50 years, however, we are using an outdated model of people resources for fire fighting. I wish we could have a rational discussion of fire fighting that didn't involve fear of dying in a fire.

Subject: Please release the full budget

Dear City Council and Staff,

Several of you have referred to adjusting the proposed city budget as a "zero-sum game," where restoring any service would be offset by an equal cut elsewhere. This does not make sense because all items in the budget are not of equal societal value; if you decrease, say, the number of consultants you hire, this will not have the same impact of closing Children's Library to the public. So what you cut changes the impact on the public, even if the dollar amounts remain the same.

More problematically, though, the "zero-sum game" mentality seems driven by the fact that city staff has basically provided council with one set of options, with little ability to select any other. The proposed operating budget does NOT say, "Here are three separate proposals for closing the budget gap. Pick one, or mix and match line-items between them until the budget balances."

Not only are different options not suggested, but the proposed operating budget is extremely incomplete. It is mostly a list of cuts from what was included in this year's budget alongside lists of the expenses and revenues of each large department and sub-department. The costs of individual programs and facilities within those departments are rarely included. For example, the budgets of the Children's Theatre, Children's Library, Art Center, Cubberley Community Center, and Lucie Stern Theatre are nowhere to be found.

For these programs and most others, the only line-items that appear are the one's staff has suggested cutting, so if council wants to make different cuts, they can't do it from the provided documents because the specifics are not there, and most of the details that are provided, such as the number of full-time-equivalent positions in each department, lack explanations or context that would enable councilmembers to adjust them. Such explanations and context are only given for the proposed cuts, which offer limited glimpses of the missing information by referring to programs, positions, and expenses not mentioned elsewhere, such as Children's Theatre performances and the staffing levels and expenses of individual libraries.

The missing information can hardly be secret, since much of it from the last few years, including the current FY 2021, is available online through the Administrative Services Department's Open Budget web app, and just yesterday, May 7, 2021, information from the proposed 2022 budget was added, including potentially hundreds of line-items not included in the budget documents submitted to the council. But the app does not describe each item beyond its name, the items are not necessarily grouped by programs, and they are not arranged in a format that allows for easy review and comparison. Critically, since this information does not seem to be part of the official documents given to the council, and it lacks context to make it useful, I fear that it will not be used by the council during budget deliberations.

Therefore, I urge the city staff to immediately release the complete budget to the council and public in a clear and straight-forward format so that multiple options can be considered and informed decisions made. This is difficult to do with the currently-provided "operating budget," which limits council's options by providing them--and the public--with a limited range of information and choices.

Thank you,

Jeremy Erman

Dear Council Members,

What a terrible blow to our faithful attendees to be surprised with an $18 entrance fee to our beloved junior zoo museum!

Having been a supporter of the JMZ for decades and having had my grandsons enjoy years of learning as campers, visitors, and junior counselors with your amazing staff, I cannot believe that we in Palo Alto CHOOSE to exclude children who most need the type of experience afforded by the JMZ. Are the renovation costs and moneys promised to it a bate and switch to us residents? What can we do to reverse this exclusionary fee? Do we need more donations from each of us to be used directly for entrance fees? There is nothing right about this decision. I cannot believe that Palo Alto, one of the wealthiest communities in the entire country, cannot make this important learning opportunity free to all as it has been for years.

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Diana. I was an avid Palo Alto Children's Theater (PACT) participant when I was a child and it truly shaped the person I am today. While I enjoyed sports, music, and art, it wasn't until my mom brought me to an audition for Hans Christian Andersen, that I learned to shine. I remember getting to play three different roles, some of which had really fast costume changes, that made the thrill of live theater and acting even more exciting for me than the other extracurriculars! That was back in 1992.

I am writing to you today to ask that you continue to support the PACT. This program gave so many children before and after me, including myself, an alternative to summer camp that was not sports based, especially if that wasn't our thing. The theater in and of itself encourages teamwork, comradery, and hardwork in a way that even sports teams cannot compete with. Our community and our children need an outlet that supports their mental, emotional, and social growth in a positive way that allows them to be who they want to be, not who society wants them to be. Please continue to provide our community and children with the amazing program that has been part of Palo Alto for 90 years!

The true impact of my experience at PACT led me to start theater programs at the elementary and middle schools at which I have taught. It gave me a voice, and told me it was okay to be silly, it's a good way to learn. It has shaped not only the person I am today, but the teacher I chose to be, and the friend I want to be.

On behalf of the children in the community and my own son, please continue to support the Palo Alto Children's Theater.

Sincerely,

Dear Palo Alto City Council members,

I am deeply concerned about the plans to possibly cut down funding for the Palo Alto children and youth programs.

Living in Palo Alto with children myself, these programs have been such a valuable part of our lives in the past 5 years. Even on a salary that my husband made as an assistant professor at Stanford University, there were not many affordable options for us to take part in. The free admission to the Children's Museum and Zoo and the children's programs at the libraries were basically the only activities we did with our children. They have been a life saver on hot days when playing in the park was not possible, and they were the places where we got to know other families that we became friends with when we had just moved here and did not know anyone. It helped us become part of this community.

From the bottom of my heart, for all families and children of Palo Alto who would not be able to afford taking part in the valuable cultural programs this community has to offer, I ask you to please find a way not to cut down funding for these programs or even worse, shutting them down.

Thank you for considering.
Kind regards,

Dear Council members,

As a Palo Alto resident since 1975 and in my own home in old Palo Alto since 1976 I was extremely upset by the recent article on page 7 of yesterday's PA Weekly.

I remember walking into the old junior museum on a regular basis to see the little animals, watch the birds, etc. It was so easy and free to take advantage of the wonderful resource.

When I first heard about the remodeling plan for the museum I couldn't understand "why?" Then I heard someone donated 25 million. Then I heard that wasn't enough and the city contributed something.

This idea to charge an $18 entrance fee is appalling and ridiculous. If someone donated the 25 million then there should be more donations from the local wealthy residents to cover free admission. Perhaps there can be an entrance fee for non-residents of Palo Alto and also there can be a fee for taking classes.

I am extremely disappointed by the council agreeing to this entrance fee even when the city is having budget problems. I will not be going to the museum if there is an entrance fee and my future grandchildren will not be going to the museum. This admission fee needs to be abolished.

Dear members of the Palo Alto City Council,

Thank you for your service to the City, especially now, as we emerge from more than a year of enormous stress in our community. I know it is a huge responsibility.

My name is Judith Content and I would like reach out to you on behalf of the Palo Alto Art Center. I am a Palo Alto resident, an Art Center volunteer, a former Foundation Board member and a current Emeritus Board member.

Today I am writing because the future of the Art Center is clearly at stake, as it is faces another radical budget cut. The last cut of $364,000 reduced an already slim staff 4.26 FTE. An additional $208,000 cut to the Art Center, amounting to 44% of the pre-Covid budget, would force the termination of every program it has.

So far our amazing Director, Karen Keinzle has managed to keep the Art Center functioning and serving its community. As an example, the current exhibition The Black Index is as relevant, enlightening and necessary as an exhibition could possibly be. Please take the time to visit the Art Center and see this courageous show.

If this second budget cut is enacted, the Art Center will not be able to recover. It's as simple as that. The damage will be too great to overcome. Keeping the key programs going, i.e. the Exhibition Program, Project Look! and Cultural Kaleidoscope is critical to the future of the Art Center. Karen has proven she can do this on her current, reduced budget. Another cut would be a disaster.

Respectfully,

Judith Content

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organization. Be cautious of opening attachments and clicking on links.

Dear Council Members -

I tried taking the budget survey three times. Each time it bounced back with errors. I could find no errors or omissions. Gave up.

This survey is very problematic in other ways. First, the "which projects do you want to keep" section is worded in a way that is confusing as to whether one is voting to keep or not keep a line item. There will be confusion in the responses you receive. If my experience is typical, and it seems to be from the few people I have talked to, the data you get will be meaningless.

Second, the only choices you give on funding are to decrease reserves or increase taxes. How about which city-funded projects we could do without?

On a related note - $4,500,000 dollars to fund the history museum while decreasing children's library and charging 18 dollars to get into the junior museum? I realize these funds come from different pots, but the priorities here are way off base.

Thanks for listening.

Dear all,

I am writing to urgently express my support of the Palo Alto Art Center. The proposed budget cuts are inexcusable and you need to severely reconsider negatively impacting the Palo Alto Art Center.

The Palo Alto Art Center is well known all over the Peninsula. It is one of the hallmarks of Palo Alto. I know this, being a 40-year resident of the Bay Area. The Palo Alto Art Center has wonderful programming for people of all ages and is really an exquisite program that brings pride to Palo Alto.

I understand that budget cuts need to be made because times are tough but the program has already been impacted by past years' budget cuts and to further reduce support of the Palo Alto Art Center is unacceptable.

The Palo Alto Art Center is real gem to Silicon Valley and helps to balance the craziness we all experience living in this area. It is an escape for people that need to explore their creative sides and is an outlet for those dealing with stress or sadness during the pandemic.

I trust you will make the right decision to support the Palo Alto Art Center.

Dear Palo Alto City Council,

It's a wonderful thing to realize all produce does not come from grocery stores. When the end of summer rolls around, my friend Wendy Crowder supplies our hiking group with fresh tomatoes. There are plenty for all and for several weeks in a row, we are reminded how delicious a home grown tomato can be. Growing produce for friends and family is a lovely opportunity for the residents of Palo Alto and brings us all closer together. Please continue to allow the community garden to flourish.

Dear council, please don't cut support for community gardens especially Eleanor Pardee Park. This is a valuable resource to the community. Many don't have the space or required sun to grow their own food and use these gardens for that purpose. I have a friend that grows tomatoes every year and shares them with 20 people. Using land for growing food seems like one of the best things we can be doing. Please don't cut the gardens.

Hello Council,

I have been a gardener at the Eleanor Pardee garden since 1982. My plot provides much of the food that my family consumes. We would be devastated to lose the ability to produce healthy, organic produce near to our home. Our house has many large trees, so is shady and unsuitable for vegetable gardening.

Please, please, find funding for the community gardens. We gardeners volunteer many hours each year to maintain the gardens, as well as paying quite a hefty annual fee. It does not seem right that gardeners would be banned from growing locally produced food when the land is there and available.

Thank you.

It is terrible that the Council is in favor of the exorbitant entrance fee of $18 to the Junior museum. Remember , the remodel was made possible by donations from people who love the museum and want to make it available to everyone. $18 is prohibitive to many people. It will limit visits by those who can afford it. Most of all , this decision will cause many to decide NOT to support future fundraising efforts, tax proposals and school bonds.

Instead, maybe annual passes for a reasonable amount, free entrance for students and seniors, special rate for school visits. I am sure there are other options so I really hope you will go back to the drawing board.

Remember, you are already charging Palo Alto residents a fee for using Foothills Park which is already paid for with our taxes.

It is time to cutback on administrative services and the like so Palo Altman's can enjoy Junior Museum, Children's Theater and Foothills park !

Good morning

The art center is an important part of Palo Alto.

My Kids walked there from school for programs before covid and were exposed to art and creative thinking. They go to classes there now in ceramics that we otherwise could not afford. It is a place we're adults and kids can see and do art in reasonable affordable prices. Please consider allowing a budget to the center so we, the residents of Palo Alto, can continue to benefit from the programs offered .

Dear City Council

we are deeply saddened to hear about all these cuts to amazing programs that have been an integral part of our community for decades and are now being threatened with cuts. We do understand that funding is tight but these cuts really take away from the quality of life and safety for residents in the city and are resources we have been important to our day to day life. Can the City consider pausing other projects that are less integral or newly planned?

Subject: Palo Alto Junior Museum - entry fee decision

To the members of the Palo Alto City Council:

My name is Nicholas Tan, and I, along with my wife and two children (3.5 years old and almost 11 months) have lived in Palo Alto for a little over two years. I am writing today to voice my shock and disappointment in the council's decision not to reconsider the $18 entry fee the city has proposed in spite of all of the well-founded opposition.

I came across the JMZ at its temporary Cubberley location when we first moved down here and immediately our older daughter felt right at home with the exhibits. When chatting with one of our close neighbors one day it turned out that he was actually on the Board of the Friends and encouraged us to get involved. Having been involved (and still continue to be) with several organizations such as the SF Symphony, Opera, and Ballet when we lived in the city, we felt we had found a great asset to the community in the JMZ and couldn't wait to see what we could do to help. From the beginning, we were huge fans of the vision of the JMZ and also the community outreach and science programs that the JMZ supported.

It is a known fact that most museums today charge an admission, and rightfully so. However, it is also a fact that ticket sales typically make up less than 10% of a museum's overall revenues and the average admission price for a U.S. museum is $7. Charging $18 for adults and children over 2 years is frankly completely ridiculous and out of line vs. any of the other children's museums in the Bay Area (look at Curiodyssey, the Children's Creativity Museum, Happy Hollow, etc.). A family of four would cost $72 for a day! From my perspective (shared with many others I have talked to), there are very compelling arguments against an $18 per person charge:

- The pricing the Palo Alto City Council has come up with is destroying the goodwill the museum has built up over its history with the community
- The negative press and sentiment that is already out there around this pricing will more than anything hurt the chances of success of the museum
- I think we can all see that attendance is going to be severely negatively impacted as most families would not justify spending $18/person to visit the museum. I and my family can afford the $18/person, but even for us it's difficult to justify the value of frequent visits at that price
- I'm not sure where the $18 proposal came from, but it doesn't look like it was grounded in anything practically reasonable. There is a concept in economics called the "willingness to pay". Other museums (children's and otherwise) in the Bay Area have likely gone through this exercise, and absolutely no one at the JMZ's size is at $18 per person. This more than anything indicates that they have discovered the ramifications on attendance at that price would be too negative and demand would be very limited at that price
- Starting at a lower level (e.g. $10/person) does not prevent any future increases in rates
- The JMZ is one of the smallest institutions and is reopening with a ticketed gate for the first time; drawing a large, consistent audience is critical
- Palo Alto is actually NOT friendly for young families. The cost of living and affordability does not attract new families and more than anything is a deterrent. Setting a cost of admission for a children's museum that is on par with and higher than adult museums only serves to cement this reputation of unaffordability and unfriendliness to families

My family moved to Palo Alto from San Francisco for several reasons. Having attended college in the area, Palo Alto always seemed like an idyllic town with an enlightened, educated community with great educational institutions, now especially relevant to a new family such as ourselves. Secondly, the corruption, shortsightedness, and poor decision-making of the San Francisco commissions convinced us that SF was not a city we could continue to be a part of, as great of a city it is in so many ways, and over the years we took offense to the poor spending and leadership decisions, with the overt focus on politicking versus doing what was best for the community. We hope that Palo Alto is able to avoid the same fate that is gripping San Francisco today; however, with the non-sensical $18/person entry fee proposal for the JMZ and also the proposed closing of the children's library, the honest truth is that myself and many others feel that the policies of the local government show a lack of sensitivity to the needs of its residents and are clearly not well-aligned with the community.

In conclusion, the Friends of the JMZ have spent several years and expended significant efforts raising a substantial sum ($25 million+) from many individuals such as myself who have the luxury and good fortune of deciding which institutions we want to support. The JMZ is a gem for the community and the only institution of its kind in Palo Alto. I implore the Council to listen to and understand the needs of its community and what is most important for the future of our community. Moreover, to see how important the JMZ is to our children and our community, and I hope that the Council will make the smart decision that is best for the community so that the JMZ can be set up for long-term success and one which we can all enjoy for many years to come.

Sincerely,

Nicholas Tan

Dear City Council members,

I would like to voice my support for restored funding for three essential Palo Alto community services: the Children's Theater, the Art Center, and the city libraries, all of which are facing draconian cuts. These three institutions are among those that make living in Palo Alto worthwhile. I have used the city libraries since I was a child myself in Palo Alto and now take my daughter to the Children's Library, which is a unique institution. She has taken classes at the Art Center, attended exhibits and activities with Project Look, and we have both enjoyed exhibits there. The Children's Theater is an extraordinary resource; my daughter has attended plays and classes and performed in one of their productions. She is looking forward to doing so again when the covid restrictions are lifted. Not all cities can boast both a dedicated children's theater and library and they give great value to the community.

Palo Alto residents are among the wealthiest on earth. I cannot understand why we cannot maintain these important community resources in both good times and bad. The City Council should find the financial resources we need to let them thrive.

Dear City Council,

Charging each person $18.00 for admission is absolutely ridiculous and represents a recipe for a huge drop in attendance. I would not attend the JMZ at that price nor take my grandchildren there. The JMZ is not the equivalent of the SF Zoo and the JMZ admission pricing should be proportionally less. The Friends of the JMZ did the City a huge favor by raising so much money and designing/constructing the new facility.

Please consider some/all of the following ideas:

1. Lower maximum admission price than $18.00/person.
2. Differing rates for City of Palo Alto residents vs non-residents.
3. Differing rates for adults than children.
4. Differing rates for seniors.
5. Season pass rates.
6. Free admission under a certain age - those whose attention span is short and may want to leave within minutes of arriving.
7. Discounted rates for educational groups.
8. Staffing the museum through Friends of the JMZ rather than with City employees with expensive benefits packages.

Hello,

I often tell friends that the Palo Alto Art Center is one of our favorite places. My two girls have enrolled in camps, both in person and online, for as long as we can remember, every summer. The Art Center is one of our most beloved parts of living in the Bay Area.

Teen Programs Are Crucial — Place do not cut!

My older daughter is about to a teenager and has been looking forward to enrolling in the teen classes for years. She is passionate about art. Art also helps her reduce the stress associated with her stutter (speech disability), which makes everything harder. Art is an especially important outlet for teens facing anxiety and depression, which is on the rise during COVID in an alarming way.

Cultural Kaleidoscope Program is So Valuable — Please do not cut!

I am a very active and committed volunteer with All Students Matter (Ravenswood District), and I've seen first hand how valuable the Cultural Kaleidoscope program is for kids at schools in East Palo Alto and Belle Haven. Please don't cut something so crucial for the well-being and enrichment of a population that is already tremendously underserved.

I would happily pay higher enrollment fees to keep these programs afloat. As it is, the cost of camps and classes at the Palo Alto Art Center are much cheaper than those at private organizations. Most families in Palo Alto and Menlo Park can afford this; families who cannot should still be able to apply for your scholarships.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Angela Evans

The teen programs are an essential component of my teens' lives, and have been critical in this past year for maintaining a semblance of normalcy, allowing creativity to flourish in a time of great stress. Youth programs offered at the art center are the programs which make a community a community. Funding should be restored to the art center, the library, and other community programs.

I am one of two PAJMZ board members primarily responsible for securing the $15M matching grant from the Peery Foundation. The Friends of the JMZ have handed the city a $30M jewel, and now the City approves a plan to charge a ludicrous 18$ entry fee. The entire point is to offer and enable education and fun for ALL kids, regardless of socioeconomic background.

You already know this will fail, the research reports say as much - hell, even I won't pay $18 and I've donating tens of thousands! Going forward I'll make sure to donate my time/money to causes where the city isn't in a position to screw it all up in an attempt to backfill budget shortcomings.

18$... I'm going to go apologize to donors and cancel my JMZ annual membership.

Subject: Budget Cuts for CT Library ??

Dear Mayor Dubois and City Council Members,

After a recent and impassioned plea from our community, the City Council decided to continue funding for the CT LIBRARY, only to find the cut once again under consideration as we are emerging from the Pandemic.

We need this Library even more now as children and their families come back to the normalcy and community they craved for more than a year during the Pandemic. As we are emerging, full of hope and good spirits, do they find an empty place and a dark building where once was a vibrant community center?

The CT LIBRARY is at the heart of College Terrace and serves the entire community, children, young families, and older people who take their grandchildren. All meet friends and borrow books.

Library services are at the heart of learning and meeting. The CT Library is a community center of sorts. Families from University Terrace, the Stanford development, up on the hill, participate too. It truly is the Center of the Neighborhood.

Moreover families from the Ventura, Barron Park and Evergreen neighborhoods use the CT Library as well and are part of this community.

Having to drive children to the large libraries across town, reduces the spontaneous learning experience a great deal. It will be occasional only, no longer easy and safely to reach for the young and the elderly as part of daily life. We say that we are committed to living locally, depending on walking and biking as part of a more community oriented way of life. Having to go clear across town belies that commitment and adds to traffic congestion, pollution and parking problems.

Once destroyed, we will not get these services back and a jewel of Palo Alto will be lost forever.

The reason we and so many others have chosen to live here and contribute, are the special jewels of Palo Alto, the CT Library, as well as the Children's Theater and the Children's Library. During several City Council meetings we have heard moving testimonials from our young graduates about the importance of these organizations in shaping their experience of growing up in Palo Alto and providing a springboard for their talents in their life ahead.

Losing these institutions would be an irrevocable loss. The funding for these organizations has been only a small part of the City Budget. Cutting this funding would mean a grave loss while providing minimal budget relief.

The economy is rebounding and so will revenues. With a little patience we can postpone capital expenditures a little, such as the Safety Building, to save these jewels of Palo Alto. The new Safety building will come as well but a little later.

Let's cultivate and cherish the jewels we have and not destroy them in favor of a new, but prosaic, shiny object. What is the point of a new Police Office, when we have lost the cherished community institutions that sustain mind and heart.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Palo Alto City Council Members,

I've spent many years visiting the Junior Museum and Zoo with my grandchildren. The JMZ also provides excellent educational programs. I'm a supporter and a donor to the new JMZ.

I support a moderate fee, around $10, for the new Junior Museum and Zoo. I understand you are currently considering a higher fee of $18. I think a fee is justified. The museum is a valuable educational resource that we should support. We pay for other important museums and parks such as the Monterey Bay Aquarium, the Oakland Zoo, the Exploratorium, Happy Hollow etc. and our new JMZ equally deserves our support.

However I wonder if the $18 fee fits the size of the facility compared to the other local family activities. For example, Happy Hollow is $12 and the very large Oakland Zoo is around $20. As a Palo Alto resident I would probably pay the higher fee to support the JMZ but I wonder if people who live in another town would. If we want to encourage visitors a fee of $10 seems more in line with the other local family educational options.

Thank you for considering my comments.

Hi All,

I have lived here for over 40 years and I just can't believe everything Palo Alto was built on is disappearing. I realize we went through major tough times this past year but the items on the chopping block is not what Palo Alto is about. My idea would be to sell off the property of the college terrace library and bring a book mobile to that location three times a week or so. The library is very under used and would bring lots of cash for the major items to keep on the books. We need to keep open the Art center at least part time with some Palo Alto staff and use volunteers for keeping it open. The Childrens library and theatre could be kept open 4 days a week, also involving volunteers from the group. The jr museum for sure needs staff to maintain the animals but we should look into the volunteers their also with staff organizing them.

My other area of concern is our fire, police and the ranger staff. Our crime is on the rise with all the bike theft and breaking into restaurants and stealing is happening quite often. We are in one of the biggest droughts and to cut fire staff makes no sense at all, when we will need them more than ever. I also needed an animal person and apparently, they now have been cut and stretched thin so I could not get one in a timely manner. The whole opening of Foothill Park with no allowance of any extra rangers but cutting them is insane. My son is a frequent hiker and he was telling me how much more trash is on the hiking trails than before opening it up to everyone. He also was down by the picnic and fire pit areas and there was a bbq going and no one around. He was about to put it out when somebody came and said, hey that is my bbq and I was just going for hike while it was burning. No rangers in sight. The council has done a major disservice on letting everyone in without a plan. I would say maybe pass the property on to people who can care for the park such Mid pen open space or Santa Clara County for rangers. You have to do something but sit there blindly like everything is okay. It is not!!

I realize you are cutting some people back in some dept but maybe search a little deeper. How about utilities, upkeep to parks. Maybe we don't need someone mowing every week, I know Johnson Park certainly doesn't need mowing every week but it does need maintenance such as garbage being picked up. Lets be creative and not cut what is important to Palo Alto.

City Council Members -

I've heard talk of shuttering the College Terrace library as a budget tightening response. Doubt this would end up saving anything close to whatever the supposed figure is, not because that figure is wrong, but because it leaves out all the costs that having the library open and staffed save in community angst, lost socialization for kids, environmental costs of driving to other locations, ... i.e. it is a short sighted, point focused, budget thought, not a holistic one.

Almost as short sighted as closing the firehouse on Hanover... as we prepare for another summer of fires.

Find the money in Police budget instead and you'll actually save some money and get good karma credits too.

Hi,

I can't believe Palo Alto is trying to lower staffing of Fire Station #2 once again. It's important for public safety.

The City of Palo Alto treats College Terrace (and Barron Park) as if it is a second class part of the city. We have a small, very basic library, and the city tries to chop it out whenever budget cuts are called for. Cutting down staffing hours in Fire Station #2 is another thing the city has tried to do in the past, and is trying again to do.

This is on top of things such as allowing very bad developments to be made in College Terrace (very ugly, very poorly planned, etc.). And cutting down all the trees in the California Avenue business district--without letting the public know before, so there could be some kind of conversation. How about the city council starts to act as if College Terrace matters? How about cutting some services and costs in the wealthier parts of Palo Alto?

Please do not even consider lowering staffing of Fire Station #2 once again. It's important for public safety.

Hi,

I can't believe Palo Alto is trying to do away with the College Terrace Library once again. The library is a much-treasured and important part of our community. Plus it makes me incensed to think that huge amounts of money were put into the huge, high-tech, brand-new Mitchell Park Community Center, but the city can't be bothered to support our very small and basic library. For shame! Plus as you know, the College Terrace Library is the only library on the west side of El Camino.

Please do not even consider cutting funding for the College Terrace Library. And stop putting it on the chopping block every time budget cuts are called for. How about cutting costs from the wealthier parts of the city???

Hello,

My name is Marie Lasnier. My husband, 3 kids and I have been living in College Terrace for 15+ years and the College Terrace Library means so so much to us all. It has been a place of gathering, friendly encounters and of course great cultural supply. Before the pandemic, we used to go there every day it was open.

We would be saddened to see it close. Please consider keeping it open for all the children and adults who love it dearly.
Thank you,

Marie Lasnier

Dear Mayor and members of the City Council,

I am shocked to hear you want to close College Terrace Library and the Children Library.

In a Time of one year of staying home books were the only happiness. Libraries are Community Buildings. We have a huge Elder Population. And when it gets too hot they go to the Library to cool off. That is the only place they can go.

In College Terrace people can walk to the Library. That is very important since many Elders don't drive anymore.

College Terrace Library can be served by one person. If not then we have Volunteers. We can make it work.

The City must have saved money by the one year shut down.

We live in a CITY with very rich people. Facebook could make a Donation.

Don't punish the Elders and the children by closing ESSENTIAL LIBRARIES .
. We should cherish and protect them.

Our Libraries are the heartbeat of PALO ALTO.

Very truly yours,

ULLA MICK

Subject: Funding for the Palo Alto Art Center

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organization. Be cautious of opening attachments and clicking on links.

Dear City Council members,

I write as a member of the Palo Alto Art Center Foundation Board and a long-time Palo Alto resident.

My family moved to this area in 1965, the year I enrolled in then-brand-new Gunn High School. My husband is a fourth-generation Palo Altan. We have lived near downtown since 1973. Like both their paternal grandparents, our children went to Paly. So, I am well-acquainted with this community by my own experience and by family lore.

Since I arrived here, Palo Alto has been recognized and envied as a wonderful place to live. This attractiveness has occurred in large part because of the value the city placed not only on civic activities, not only on education, but also on a breadth of cultural activities, including art. This “full package” has made Palo Alto into a powerful residential beacon and destination, drawing an increasingly affluent population of Silicon Valley participants and visitors in recent years and putting Palo Alto definitively on the map.

The Palo Alto Art Center has been an important part of the city’s attractiveness and trajectory. The Art Center has developed a compelling and balanced combination of art viewing, art practice, and art education, and championed just the sort of guiding values—community engagement, inclusivity, diversity, social awareness—that are rooted in city history. Data show that this to be a winning combination, one that consistently draws a large number of residents and visitors to the Art Center.

Thus, I cannot understand why the City would now contemplate making cuts to the Art Center budget that will weaken its appeal, decimate its talented staff, and damage the highly successful and financially supportive public-private partnership it has established with the Palo Alto Art Center Foundation. Do we really want our city values to change to encompass the unenlightened view that arts are “extra” and “expendable”?

No doubt that budget cutting is painful! But as the Council makes its tough decisions, I strongly request that it remains mindful of Palo Alto’s long-time values and their importance to the city’s continued vitality, appeal, and financial stability, and retain funding for the Palo Alto Art Center.

Sincerely,

Sally Glaser

Dear City Council members,

I am a professor of art history and African American studies at the University of California, Irvine. I am also the curator of The Black Index exhibition on view at the Palo Alto Art Center through August 14, 2021. I am so honored to share the exhibition at the Palo Alto Art Center because of the diverse communities it serves on both sides of the tracks.

The Art Center is critical in providing transformative experiences to individual visitors in-person and virtually. The staff has worked tirelessly to serve despite the pandemic. In addition, the exhibition supports systemic initiatives designed to improve the city by making it a safer place for all people. Through the Art Center, The Black Index exhibition is able to make a wonderful addition to the Palo Alto communities because it addresses issues of diversity and anti-Blackness that plague our nation today. It supports the Palo Alto library's Book to Action program and the city's plan for 100 conversations about race.

Eliminating the exhibition program will undermine these efforts now and in the future. Truly the Art Center is a place of gathering, learning, instruction, and expression. It is a unique oasis in the city and the South Bay area at large. I urge you not to decimate all that it offers and instead figure out a way to support the Art Center's survival even in these terrible economic times.

Sincerely,

Bridget R. Cooks, Ph.D.

CAUTION: This email originated from outside of the organization. Be cautious of opening attachments and clicking on links.

Dear Tom DuBois,

Annie Carl on CC as Community Garden Organizer

I am a resident of Palo Alto and a proud member of the community garden at Rinconada. This garden is the source of good, healthy food and good healthy social bonds. Many of my garden neighbors are people with lower income. They can work their plots to help offset the cost of groceries and assure that they and their families are getting healthy fruits, vegetables and herbs in their diets. Additionally, many of us are from other places. We plant and harvest unique fruits and vegetables that are part of our cultural heritage. The produce from their gardens is usually not available in grocery stores, even specialty stores and this produce provides a valuable connection to our cultural heritage.

There are so many social and economic benefits that these community gardens provide. Additionally, as I am sure you know, the gardens offer important habitat to species like monarch butterflies, help to filter water in rain storm events, cool the environment, filter air pollutants and provide carbon capture. In short, the benefits of the gardens profound. We must keep these gardens for the sake of the community and the environment.

I posted a request for petition signatures late Friday afternoon. It's Monday morning and we already have 434 signatures. We will continue to collect signatures as long as the gardens are in a precarious state with the specter of disbanding them looms.

Please let me know how the city plans to proceed regarding the community gardens.
We will rally to keep the gardens and the funding needed to sustain them. They are too important.

Best regards,
Christine Spindler

Dear City Council Members,

We are so thankful for the hours of time you devote to our beloved Palo Alto!

Last week, a group of Palo Alto citizens came together to express our concern for youth and children's programs that will be impacted by the proposed cuts in the Palo Alto Budget for the next fiscal year. In less than a week over 1,600 individuals have signed our petition and we have 10 pages of comments submitted on the topic. On behalf of this whole community, I am presenting in this email a link to our petition along with two attachments (signatures and comments).

Hon. Council Members, please consider accessing additional financial resources to reverse the proposed budget cuts that have such a disproportionate impact on our youth and children.

Thank you and best wishes,
Mora Oommen

Rebecca Eisenberg	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-03	"Our city leaders must do their job - require huge corporate donors to pay their fare share, and fund resources essential for the rest of us!!"
Bob Miyahara	Menlo Park, CA	2021-05-04	"Cutting funding for youth programs when our children have been isolated for so long only exacerbates the impact of the pandemic. Please continue to fund these critical programs."
Jennifer Gonsalves	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"These are very valuable programs!"
KATHRYN AKATIIF	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"This is an unique and treasured institution that has meant so much to the children of this town. Cut your own salaries before you touch Children's Theater, the Children's Library and the Cross Culture programs. Don't buy more public art. Don't put in round-a-bouts. Don't put dips in the street for rainwater. Stop the expensive corner curb reconstructions when they are already ramped. There ARE things you can do to save these programs."
Brandon Savage	US	2021-05-04	"The programs and friends at PACT meant so much to me as a child and I hope we can preserve this unique and wonderful institution for generations to come."
Haley Carter	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"Palo Alto is the amazing town that it is because of the children and young families who live there. Keep city programming at library's and public spaces open for children especially. At risk youth and young children depend on these resources to learn and grow. Close these and watch Palo Altos youth drug use rate will spike."
Laurie Walls	Columbia City, IN	2021-05-04	"You need to invest in children's futures, not take away valuable resources like libraries and the performing arts. These places and services are vital to a healthy community!"
Rena Kim	Los Altos, CA	2021-05-04	"The places they plan on cutting are essential to the youths in Palo Alto. These places are cultivating dreams and the council plans to cut these programs for the sake of money."
Ruchi Goyal	Stanford, CA	2021-05-04	"Post-covid, our kids need access to programs like PACT, which is an extremely inclusive community to channel their feelings in a creative way. The Palo Alto Children's Theatre is essential to the community, which is why I was horrified when I learned that there were proposed cuts in the upcoming budget plan."
Rachaell Mondino	Mountain View, CA	2021-05-04	"I'm signing because my kids deserve better. I work hard to be able to pay my property taxes to give my kids a chance at the same childhood I had. People have invested in this community for decades and it's time to make big business do the same."
Hiral Parekh	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"We chose to live in Palo Alto because of these types of programs. This community has a history of enrichment for children and youth. In addition, the Children's library is a treasure. Palo Alto is a special place and we should work harder to keep these intact. Other cities across the country have dug deep during these difficult times. Please consider every option before cutting these programs."

Mark Fussell	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"So the 2022 number is $6.5 million. Or less than the waste on the roundabouts and messed up bike flow control ($9mm). There should be enough in the capital buffer for that ("The FY 2021 Budget Stabilization Reserve (BSR) is anticipated to be $35.8 million") or a minor loan to cover it. Why isn't the BSR being used for what it is intended to handle? Why is the number suddenly doubled? "to balance the FY 2022 $13 million gap". This does not change the points above but is quite curious. —Mark From the budget (p 55) :RESERVE The City's general reserve is referred to as the Budget Stabilization Reserve (BSR). By policy, the City maintains a reserve level of 15.0-20.0 percent of the General Fund operating budget, with a targeted goal of 18.5 percent. City Council approval is required prior to setting reserves lower than 15.0 percent. Seems an obvious source for a one-year extension to give the council time to come up with a better revenue stream"
Julia Asher	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"We need the arts now more than ever. Especially in the Bay Area technology and stem has always been prioritized, sidelining arts programming. As an artist from Palo Alto, the arts saved me and I firmly believe they will save future kids from getting lost in the overwhelming stem world."
Tammy Kwan	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"The Children's Theatre has been such a magical place for my daughter and the youths of our community. Please don't cut it when they now need it the most."
R Rasmussen	Altadena, CA	2021-05-04	"I grew up at PACT. It had a profound influence on who I became as an adult and how I conduct myself in my career as a professional theatre artist."
anna hurty	oakland, CA	2021-05-04	"One of our sons found his "purpose" at the children's theatre. He was engaged, proud, learning every day. These programs are critical for the youth of the Peninsula."
Анастасия Волкова	Los Angeles, CA	2021-05-04	"The Palo Alto Children's Theatre and Children's Library were fundamental to my growth and future career path. I gained valuable insights, knowledge, and experiences, and it would be such a loss to the community to not have this programming. Please keep these institutions around and affordable for all local kids!"
Kimberley Wong	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"Growing up in Palo Alto, then experiencing them as a mom, I cherish each individual library... it is what sets Palo Alto apart from all the other cities. Plus, having a neighborhood library helps cut traffic around town if there was only one to go to. It promotes community!!"
Kiran Khanna	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"I love Palo Alto children's theater - they are a treasure"
Dror Sneh	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"I have 4 boys who went through these various programs, which complement our great school district, and I'm grateful for all the skills and confidence they acquired, for all the mental strength they built, and for all the lifelong friends they made in them. You cannot put a price on that."

sandy eggers	san leandro, CA	2021-05-04	"PACT is a treasure for the children who have participated over many years. Generations to come need the same opportunity to be involved in this very important institution!"
Tanya Mehta	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-04	"The PA Children's Theater and its exemplary staff have provided a magical place for so many kids in our community. Please continue to invest in our youth. Our kids need these programs now more than ever."
Sarah Wilson	Redwood City, CA	2021-05-04	"I grew up participating in all aspects of the Palo Alto Children's Theatre -- outreach shows in the elementary schools, main stage productions during the school year, conservatory program in the summer and Wingspread. It was truly a home away from home for me and I made many lasting friendships there in my youth! I also sent my stepchildren to the same programs during the summertime and they loved it. Please don't cut the arts any further."
Ari Consul	Seattle, US	2021-05-04	"There's no good reason not to fund these programs next budget year."
Gina Silverman	San Francisco, CA	2021-05-05	"Cutting the Children's Theatre and children's library would be horrendous. These are things that make Palo Alto so special."
Kirsten Luehrs	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"Our community needs these programs. There must be a way to raise or shift funds to keep them going."
Kirti Rao	San Francisco, CA	2021-05-05	"Kirti rao"
Aarti Johri	Los Altos, CA	2021-05-05	"My children went to Palo Alto schools and the community thrives because of these programs. We need to get more creative to help the programs survive. Shutting the beloved library, theatre and the art center and their programs? Not a solution for a thriving community . In a pandemic these bring us together. Let's not remove another tool of social engagement ."
Ananya Das	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"I appreciate living in a city that cares about raising well rounded, caring citizens. Let's keep Palo Alto special and forward-thinking!"
Maria Brown	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"We love living in Palo Alto because of all the beautiful programs that are offered."
Kristan Green	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"Cutting youth programs will be extremely detrimental to our youth! These programs are so valuable and our youth need them!"
Shana Segal	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"I grew up in Palo Alto and participated in Children's Theater and took my kids to every story time and hotdog production before covid hit. It's a gem and brings together the community."
Eileen Stolee	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"I'm signing this petition because both of my children grew up here going to the children's library, plays at the children's theatre, and our beloved College Terrace Library. These programs are the heartbeat of our city!"
Penelope Van Tuyl	San Francisco, CA	2021-05-05	"PACT was my home and vibrant community between ages 8 and 15. It was such a special, safe place for kids to have freedom and independence, bonding over collective constructive activities, while safe and supervised. We need more of this in today's world, not less. It should remain funded!"

Katie Christman	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"Palo Alto was a great place to grow up poor.It has been a great place for my kids to grow up NOT poor.We mix our kids here, in schools and in community programs which are free but so great, rich kids want in. If you cut these programs you will fracture our town. No amount of 'savings' is worth that."
Kimberley Wong	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"My family, mother, me and my kids, all products of the Palo Alto school system, we collectively cherish the Children's library, the Palo Alto children's theater and the many programs it has offered many of the young people of Palo Alto. To lose these would to lose the heart and soul of what makes Palo Alto so special and so unique! Please save these valuable resources fir generations to come!"
Jennifer Goltz-Taylor	Ann Arbor, MI	2021-05-05	"PACT had a huge, hugely positively impact on my life. I participated as a kid and then taught and directed as a young adult. I learned skills within and outside the bounds of theater -- skills I continue to use and depend on to make my living as a musician and educator to this day. PACT is a unique and special organization that is one of the best things about life in Palo Alto. Don't let it die on your watch."
Elaine Jek	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"Elaine Jek"
Susan Meade	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-05	"Palo Alto Art Center and the Children's Theatre are integral reasons for living in Palo Alto. The Art Center is the heart of our artistic community. Between Project Look, rotating exhibits, displays of youth art, hosting of teen events, and the many many studio art classes available, I can't imagine the Art Center having to operate on a shoestring budget. The Children's Theatre where my children have attended performances, and my actress daughter has performed in the Playhouse series, is a Gem. Please do what you can to save these vital programs for the Palo Alto community."
Gurmeet Lamba	Cupertino, CA	2021-05-06	"We need to keep the philanthropic nature of the Palo Alto Art Center and not just a pay for classes commercial establishment."
Marsha Smilovitz	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-06	"This program and facility are incredibly important to our community and the ongoing development and showcase of talent. Art is already cut from normal school programs."
Mayra Azanza	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-06	"We moved to Palo Alto in part because of the many oppourtunities these programs presented to our children. All these programs that are threatened are key for keeping of a close-knit community, one that we really want for our kids and we as a community need after such devastating year. Do reconsider, eliminating them will create a larger problem."
Rebecca Griner	Palo Alto CA 94303, CA	2021-05-06	"Keep it running!! More!"
Amy Lee	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-06	"Our kids need these youth programs."

deidre silverman	san rafael, CA	2021-05-06	"Performing Arts is a wonderful, character-building experience for young people. Please maintain."
Quinn Russell	Olympia, WA	2021-05-06	"Youth programming, community gathering spaces and accessible resources in the arts are vital to a healthy community. Defunding libraries, sports and children's theatre would cut out the heart of what makes Palo Alto a vibrant place for children and families. From a mental health and equity perspective these cuts would be devastating."
Laurie Levy	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-06	"I can't imagine a world without access to libraries, hot dog summer theater, Cultural Kaleidoscope (which is so powerful if you get to see how children benefit), and an Art Center where I can take my students."
Jonna Hunter	Menlo Park, CA	2021-05-06	"These community resources punch above their weight in quality. They simply make our community fabric richer and stronger."
Boaz Maor	US	2021-05-06	"These youth programs are fundamental to the livelihood of our kids and should be prioritized over and above other budget items"
Patricia Kinney	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"We need to continue to invest in emotional and mental well-being for our children and youth."
Michele Sharkey	Los Altos, CA	2021-05-07	"After a year of distance learning, our students need youth programs more than ever to support their mental health."
Roberta Lamanda	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"our Youth Connectedness Initiative (YCI) program which helps adolescents (ages 11-18) develop social-emotional learning as a suicide prevention tool, it's and amazing program. The pandemic is very hard to our kids.This is the time to strongly support programs like this. Please think wisely."
Marguerite Fletcher	Palo alto, CA	2021-05-07	"PALO ALTO's programs and provisions for children in education and the arts should not be sacrificed, particularly during this time of privation and isolation."
Zhi Zhang	Cupertino, CA	2021-05-07	"Please keep the art center! It is crucial to youth art programs!"
Assaf Cohen	Los Angeles, CA	2021-05-07	"Palo Alto Children's Theatre changed my life. I would not be a professional actor, arts advocate and some of my deepest held values were it not for PACT."
Mark Saleh	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"The Children's Theatre provided an incredibly enriching experience for our kids and plays a valuable role for our community, which is needed now more than ever."
Rev. Amy Zucker Morgenstern	San Francisco, CA	2021-05-07	"Children's libraries, programs that support teens' mental health, theater . . . these are services most communities would love to have. For Palo Alto, one of the richest cities in California, even to be considering scrapping them, is an embarrassment."
suzi manbeck	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"I concur very strongly that the children of Palo Alto need to have access to all of the programming they had prior to the pandemic. It would be a shame to lose library access, access to the arts and theatre. All the things that help enrich them to be more well rounded humans."

Jennifer liu	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"Art is important for PA residents"
Sunny Zhai	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"My kids miss taking the pottery and drawing classes and the exhibition there in the art center. We love this place so much."
Riki Morita	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"Please don't cut these valuable programs!"
Charlotte Fu	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"Our community needs art especially during the difficult times. Our kids have enjoyed going to the Palo Alto art center since they were very in the preschools. Our community loves this art center. Please keep it alive for the community! Thank you!"
Alli Gilden	Washington, DC	2021-05-07	"The arts are an essential part of the community, particularly when it comes to programming for children."
Laurel Fleck	San Jose, CA	2021-05-07	"My children benefitted greatly from all the wonderful programs Palo Alto offered to youth. Any program offering mental health services to children is vital to the community. Please do not end these programs/services."
Victoria Quertermous	stanford, CA	2021-05-07	"I value our children and their futures."
Julie O'Grady	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"The Children's Theatre must stay. It's Palo Alto history and use is immeasurable!"
Shela Fisk	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-07	"It is a valuable recourse for children and definitely helps improve self esteem. I am a psychologist/psychoanalyst"
Aley Even	Santa Ana, CA	2021-05-07	"I was the exhibitions intern at the Palo Alto Art Center during the summer of 2019. I saw first hand how wonderful and vital art is to a community. Palo Alto is fortunate enough to have a beautiful art center where children and adults have the opportunity to learn and create, and there is absolutely no reason why that should change."
Dianne Suiter	Dayton, OH	2021-05-08	"I deeply understand the power of the arts to support, educate, and heal all youth."
Kathleen Kerry	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"My children enjoyed the Thester so much in the mid-80's. Michael threatened to install a bed for one son! My six grandchildren don't live in Palo Alto or they would have been there, too. We need to save this treasure!"
DD Feng	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"My kids grew up with these art programs, which brought our family a lot of joy and made our living in the city unique. Please keep these programs especially during this difficult time."
Mridula Shukla	Dearborn, US	2021-05-08	"To, Palo Alto City Council, Please reject the cuts being proposed in the 2021-22 city budget for children and youth programs that protect their emotional, mental and physical health and wellness.ThanksMridula"
jennifer ott	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"This is a wealthy city that can choose to support the arts"

Martha Sakellariou	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"We can't afford to lose these programs especially after enduring a year of isolation and lack of creative outlets. These are essential for our communities growth and wellbeing."
Deborah La Puma	Placentia, CA	2021-05-08	"Theatre and the arts are vital to heal the wounds of the past year. Bring joy and community building back to the children of Palo Alto!"
Andrew DeMartini	Sunnyvale, CA	2021-05-08	"My kids love the Children's Theatre performances."
Reshma Singh	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"The theater was a great part of my children's life, giving them the confidence to speak and be themselves. I would like every child in Palo Alto and beyond to have the same gift. Especially given these crazy times when youth mental health is tanking. Thanks- Reshma"
Jules Sherman	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"I care about kids"
Hairong Zou	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"It is a very important part of the community for our next generation."
Isma Khan	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"These programs are so important for the youth even more so in the current times!"
Jian Shi	San Jose, CA	2021-05-08	"We should give our children more opportunities"
Adam Tobin	Stanford, CA	2021-05-08	"Libraries and performing arts are the lifeblood of a city."
Ami O	California	2021-05-08	"Our children need the arts to thrive!!"
Tad Lebeck	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"I am signing because the Children's Theater is such an important part of our community. Our children love studying there and we love the productions"
Mandy Guo	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"My family benefited from the youth programs."
Toni Ouradnik	East Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"As a teacher and parent, my children and students have benefited in innumerable ways from the Art Center and Project Look field trips. In this past year of distance learning, the digital field trip with Project Look was the only one that was a true success. This organization is an integral part of my curriculum. There is so much money in Palo Alto and our youth deserve the support, especially after the past 14 months they've had. Please save this!"
Yara Sellin	Stanford, CA	2021-05-08	"The library, Art. Enter, The library, Art Center, children's programs all make Palo Alto a great place to live. My family members all use and value Palo Alto's precious community resources."
Lee Zulman	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-08	"I believe that an overhaul of the Planning Dept. would generate revenue and save 100s of thousands of dollars. Antiquated rules are mobilized to delay building. It took me 7 months to get a teeny galley kitchen put in my ADU, for example. There are many illicit rentals that are overlooked, and revenue goes uncollected through lack of efficiency. The 5-million dollar house, near my house, that was demolished to make way for a new house ($$ for the City) leaves an empty lot in Edgewood for over 5 years. The process is inefficient and does not benefit a city like Palo Alto. Instead you

Thomas Buch	Menlo Park, CA	2021-05-08	"We always took our grandchildren to the Children's theater. They gained so much from experiencing live theater. Please keep this vital theater experience going forward. The pandemic has done enough damage to young children. Let's not make it worse!"
Morgan Guzman	Alameda, CA	2021-05-08	"I grew up hanging out at the theater and that experience has shaped so much of who I am. Palo Alto needs the Children's Theater!"
Sue Klapholz	Stanford, CA	2021-05-08	"The arts are critical to a thriving culture. Children need the arts and the library in their lives."
Rebecca Thompson	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-09	"Especially for children who are neither athletes nor mathletes, the theater and the arts programs provide invaluable opportunities for learning, connecting, growing, finding friends, and feeling a valuable part of the community. Don't shut them down or cut them back. Find another way."
Igor Makasyuk	pppp, CA	2021-05-09	"Tax the business, do not deprive children of programs."
Brittany Gardner	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-09	"I'm signing because Palo Alto Children's Theatre helped make me who I am today."
Alison Biggs	Los Altos, CA	2021-05-09	"We're in neighbouring Los Altos but have enjoyed so many wonderful times at the Junior zoo, library, etc. I always felt so encouraged by all Palo Alto did for its children, so many lovely little unique experiences that EVERYONE could enjoy. There have to be solutions that don't involve taking these institutions away."
Gene Warren	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-09	"These institutions are an amazing resource for community families and a key part of what makes growing up here unique"
Lori Gicklhorn	Issaquah, WA	2021-05-09	"I grew up in Palo Alto, and hate to imagine a childhood bereft of the programs that are being proposed to be cut. The arts bring children so much benefit to mental and physical health! In a year when we are all faced with a lack of social and community opportunities, to cut these programs would be a tragedy and set back the youth and students of the city for years to come. Generations have benefited from PACT, the Children's Library, and so much more! Fight to keep these powerhouses for the city to bloom back better!!"
Colleen Uhran	Arroyo Grande, CA	2021-05-09	"The Art Center is a place that put a smile on my face when I was a child."
Elinor Taussig	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-09	"The children's theatre has been one of my favorite things for kids in Palo Alto! You have to save it!"
Jennifer Newton	valley village, CA	2021-05-09	"The arts matter"
Ashley Suhr	Seattle, WA	2021-05-09	"As a young boy I enjoyed many beautiful productions at this theater. By cutting support for vital programs in the arts we stand to lose so much of value. Please consider the future of our children when you make this decision, and keep this amazing program intact."

Norm Picker	East Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-09	"Please prioritize the children's programs, theatre and library."
Basab Pradhan	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-09	"Arts programs should be protected."
Benjamin Hill	Mountain View, CA	2021-05-09	"My kid loves the theater classes"
Mimm Patterson	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-09	"We live in challenging times. Still, our children and our youth should be our priority and cutting the budgets of these programs will be a negative impact on their lives not only today but in the years to come."
Kristen Van Fleet	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-09	"Art programs are important to our Palo Alto community. A city that is one of the wealthiest places in the world can figure out how to keep these programs going! Not every thing in life needs to turn a profit. Some experiences are more valuable than anything money can buy."
Laura Bajuk	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-10	"Everything we do that makes a child's life brighter makes for a better world for us all. (And the opposite is true - reduce the quality of life and we darken the world, adding crime, abuse and more.) Be the light!"
Ashwinee Khaladkar	Palo Alto, CA	2021-05-10	"Palo Alto art museum is such great facility for the community the community to participate, learn, develop and admire local talent."
Zack Pace	Rohnert Park, CA	2021-05-10	"Art is the heart beat of life. Keep the creativity flowing."
